ABOUT TALITHA

Talitha Arts takes its name from a passage in the bible in the gospel of Mark. "When Jesus of Nazareth heard of the death of a young girl, he ran to her, took her by the hand and said, "Talitha Cumi" - "Little Girl, Arise." Miraculously, the young girl got up and began to walk. (Mark 5:41)

Founder Amanda Root was inspired by Gary Haugen's talk on International Justice Mission's (IJM) work with young girls rescued from sexual exploitation/human trafficking. She and her team founded Talitha's creative work on using the arts to help young women "arise" after trauma and abuse, going out to work with IJM in their aftercare settings for young women in India.

Our church workshops are also founded on this premise. What does it mean to arise as individuals and discover our unique identity in Christ?

Talitha runs arts workshops specifically designed for churches and charities.

Talitha Faith is our faith-based workshop program, designed by our practitioners for the needs of Christian church congregations.

CREATIVE ARTS WORKSHOPS

Using scripture, contemplation and simple arts activities, Talitha workshops are an opportunity to draw closer to God.

To explore your own unique identity through voice, movement, music, drama and visual arts.

Who are the workshops for?

You don't need to be creative to come along. Talitha church workshops are for anyone interested in exploring the creative arts as a way to build a relationship with God.

What to expect?

The session will include various simple creative activities. We use scripture as a springboard for a variety of creative activities and there are opportunities for both personal exploration and group reflection.

There is no charge to run church workshops; we simply ask participants for a suggested donation of £10 to cover the cost of resources and facilitator travel expenses.
